

Introduction to Childhood Domestic Violence

Presented by

Voices Set Free

June 29th, 2018
9:00am – Noon

Beaverton City Hall
12725 SW Millikan Way
Beaverton, OR
Third Floor Training Center

What happens to a child living in a violent home?
Growing up in a violent home is “the SINGLE BEST PREDICTOR of becoming a victim or perpetrator of Domestic Violence” later in life. -UNICEF

Register by June 22nd using either method below:

email: workshops@voicessetfree.org

<http://www.voicessetfree.org/registration---hold.html>

Cost: FREE – Registration required.
Seating is limited to 30 attendees

Please note that the content covered in this workshop may be triggering for people with trauma and/or lived experience with family violence.

Develop an understanding of the complex dynamics of family violence on children and its lifelong impact.

Introduce the award winning book, Invincible: The 10 Lies You Learn Growing Up with Domestic Violence, and the Truths to Set You Free, authored by Brian F. Martin, survivor and founder of CDVA in 2007.

Present evidence-based research showing a direct link of Childhood Domestic Violence to future family violence and substance abuse.

Provide effective intervention strategies to assist attendees in their work

Meet the Presenters:

Eric Welch is a Washington County Parent Mentor working with Morrison Child and Family Services. He grew up with Childhood Domestic Violence and has been on a journey of healing over the past 10 years. “I look forward to sharing my story. Hopefully it will inspire and stimulate your passion for helping others.”

Louise Bauschard, LCSW, Executive Director and founder of the nonprofit organization Voices Set Free and is a nationally recognized DV activist. Her goal is to end family violence with prevention efforts that MUST begin with children.

Maeve Swakhammer is a Portland State University BSW intern at Voices Set Free. She is pursuing a career in social work because she is a survivor of Domestic Violence and her passion is working towards ending it.

